

Management System Policy

STOCKMEIER Urethanes is dedicated to producing the highest quality products with the lowest impact on the environment and providing outstanding commercial and technical service at the best value to the customer. We believe in continuously improving our products, processes, and people in all areas of the company. We strive to meet or exceed customer expectations and to be recognized in the industry as a reliable, sustainable, innovative, and trusted supplier.

Above all, we value the health, safety, and security of our employees, customers, suppliers, and neighbors. We are committed to being an ethical and responsible steward of the environment. We are committed to meeting and exceeding regulatory, internal, and external requirements to help create a sustainable future.

STOCKMEIER Urethanes will support this Policy by the following:

- Commit to the company core values of integrity, teamwork, ownership, leadership, and innovation.
- Commit to the guiding principles of Responsible Care®
- Prevent pollution, reduce waste and energy and conserve natural resources.
- Lead ethically to add value to our community.
- Commit to sustainability by ensuring that our products complete a safe and secure product life cycle.
- Foster a culture of safety, quality, and teamwork throughout our organization.
- Ensure compliance with safety, health, environmental and security laws, and regulations.
- Ensure that our stakeholders are well informed of any risks or hazards associated with our products.
- Optimize the efficiency of our operations.
- Collaborate with our customers and suppliers to develop products that reduce their carbon footprint.
- Continually improve our integrated EHS&S Management System to address environmental, health, safety, and security performance.
